Select Poetry.

THERE'S NO DEARTH OF KINDNESS.

BY GERALD MESSEY.

There's no dearth of kindness
 In this holy world of ours;
Only in our blindness
 We gather thorns for flowers!
Outward, we are spurning—
 Trampling one another!
While we are inly yearning
 At the name of "Brother!"

There's no dearth of kindness
 Or love among mankind,
But in darking loneness
 Hooded hearts grow blind!
Full of kindness tingling,
 Soul is shut from soul,
When they might be mingling
 In one kindred whole!

There's no dearth of kindness,
 Tho' it be unspoken,
From the heart it sendeth
 Smiles of Heaven in token
That there be none so lowly,
 But have some angel-touch;
Yet nursing loves unholy,
 We live for self too much!

As the wild rose bloweth,
 As runs the happy river,
Kindness freely floweth
 In the heart forever,
But if men will hanker
 Ever for golden dust
Best of hearts will canker,
 Brightest spirits rust.

There's no dearth of kindness
 In this world of ours;
Only in our blindness
 We gather thorns for flowers!
O cherish God's best giving,
 Falling from above!
Life were not worth living,
 Were it not for love.

POLITICAL.

Remarks of Senator Cameron.

In the Senate of the United States, Tuesday, May 14, on the bill for the enforcement of the Fifteenth Amendment, Senator Ferree, of Connecticut, having proposed to amend an amendment offered by Senator Nye, by striking out the words "And shall be forever disqualified to hold any office of honor, trust or profit under the United States, or any State," and advocated the amendment in a speech of some length and force, and the question having been debated by several other Senators:

Mr. Cameron said: I rise with a view of seconding the suggestion made by the Senator from Ohio; and I merely desire to add that I am glad the subject of taking off disabilities is not now before us, because I should like to say something on that question at more length than I can now.

Mr. Drake. I hope the Senator will speak so loud that he can be heard at least this far. If he is only speaking that the reporter may hear him, he talks loud enough; but if he wishes the Senate to hear him, he should talk louder.

Mr. Cameron. It is not my misfortune that the Senator from Missouri is so old that he has not the full use of his ears. [Laughter.]

I desire to say that I disagree with the sentiments uttered to-day by the Senator from Connecticut, for whom I have such high respect, such great regard, and almost love, growing out of his services to this country. His words to-day were creditable to his heart, but they are injurious to the country, and not creditable to his judgment. I have thought a great deal of this southern question. I have seen it in all its aspects, and I want now only a law which will secure to the negro the right to vote as the Constitution contemplates he shall. I was invited only last fall, in November, I believe, to go to the Southern States. I went to Georgia, Florida, and some other States, and I found there no disposition to carry out the kindness of the North toward the South. The rebels of the war were rebels still. Everybody treated me with kindness and courtesy, as I suppose any gentleman going anywhere would be received and treated, but in every house I heard them speaking with contempt of the Northern men who had gone among them. "The scalawags and the carpet-baggers" were their constant theme of contempt, and everywhere were eulogies of the men who fought and distinguished themselves in the rebellion.

They said that they were glad slavery was abolished, because they had now learned that it was more profitable to them to have the labor of the negro at a cheap rate, than to feed him, and clothe him, and take care of him in sickness and distress; but there was no sympathy for the negro. While he was a slave there was no belief in the duty of supporting the laboring man. They looked upon it only as a question of finance, and they were getting rich, and were proud to say they were getting rich. I tell you that in a few years no portion of the world, of the same extent, will be so rich, so powerful in wealth and money, as the Southern States; and when that time comes no man who settles among them from the North will be safe. No matter how much he may yield to them now, even though he may get down on his knees here and say they are compelled to violate the law, or to take fools or rascals for the offices, that will not save him when the Southerners are relieved from all disabilities, and are allowed to vote as they did before the rebellion.

The Senator from Nevada, [Mr. Nye] some days ago, referred to the circumstance of the United State flag not being raised in Georgia over the fair which I attended there last fall. It is true that the authorities at the State Fair, to which others and myself were invited, had no flag on the fair ground; and when its absence was objected to by myself and others from the north, they said there was none to be had, I then, through a friend, had one procured and offered, but it was declined. No flag of the Union floated over that assemblage.

I believe in charity; I believe in kindness, in not bearing spite, and in forgiving those who do wrong. I would forgive them when I believed they deserved it, when their hearts were changed, when they felt that they had done wrong. When that time comes, it will be time enough to take off the disabilities of which they complain. They think it no wrong that they came among us and burned the houses and destroyed the fields, and consumed the stacks of the people of Pennsylvania. That, they say, was all right; but now, because they did that wrong, because they murdered our friends and relatives, and we say they shall remain out of the power which they took from themselves, it is argued that we are doing them a wrong. Why, sir, when I was traveling as the gest of the people of the South, I had with me a servant whose skin was a little darker than my own, and he was ordered out of the car in which I sat, though I had paid for his passage. They would have driven him out if I had not said to them: "Beware; if you put him out it will be done because you are stronger than he; and the moment that is done, I will bring such power against you as this Government can bring." It was not attempted by the car-agent on his own authority, for he said to me that it was the order of the directors or superintendent of the road when he left Savannah.

Mr. Sawyer. Will the Senator allow me a question?

Mr. Cameron. Certainly.

Mr. Sawyer. Did you inquire whether the superintendent of the road was a Northern man?

Mr. Cameron. I did not inquire anything about that. That is nothing to the point. I have seen Northern men humble themselves before the South more than Southern men would do.

Mr. Sawyer. I should like to make a suggestion on this point, if the Senator will allow me. I can say that with regard to the State of South Carolina the colored man rides in the same car that the Senator or I would ride in, and nobody disputes his passage anywhere in the street, in the stream rail cars or the street cars. That has been allowed by the Republican government of the State of South Carolina. Whatever the disposition may be, I know nothing; I would not deal with men's dispositions, but with their acts.

Mr. Cameron. This was not in South Carolina. I believe what the Senator says of South Carolina is true, for the reason that the negroes there have the majority. It is one of the few States, if there be any at all, that will ever send a Republican to Congress when the real South gets a chance. This was in Georgia. Why, sir, only the other day General Lee, the head and front of the rebellion, received such an ovation at Portsmouth, Virginia, as no conquerer in all history ever received; that man who led all the forces of the rebellion against his Government; that man who was educated at West Point by the bounty of the Government; that man who had been willing to take command of the Army of the United States; and that man now, if the South had the power, would be elected President of the United States.

Does any man here, who thinks on the subject, believe that there is not an idea now in the Southern mind that all the debt incurred by the Southern traitors in the rebellion shall be paid by this government? If he does, he is much more ignorant than I believe him to be. That idea is there in the mind of everybody; and some day, not far distant from now, if you take off all the disabilities from these people, and allow the traitors to come here, a law will be passed which will compel this Government to pay the debt of the rebellious States. The moment these Southern men come here, as they were before, you will find plenty of weak-keed people in the North willing to bow down to that Southern power again, and give them the control of the Government as they had before.

I had no idea of speaking on this subject; I had made no preparation to speak. All I desire to say now is that I hope we shall pass this bill, make it a law. Let us do what we all agree shall be done that the negro under his emancipation shall have his rights under the law to vote as other men do; and hereafter we will take up the question of relieving the Southern people from disabilities. I will express my sentiments then; and I give my vote as I think an intelligent and honest man ought to give it.

LATE CURIOSITIES.—A fence made from the railing of a scolding wife. A plate of butter from the cream of a joke. The small coins "in the change of the moon." The original brush used in painting the signs of the times. The latest contract with the trade winds The chair in which the sun sets. A garment for the naked eye. Buckle to a laughing stock. The animal that drew the inference. Eggs from a nest of theives. A bucket of water from "All's well."

IN general, that man is a coward who shapes his course of action by his fears; and he alone is a man of real courage who dares to do right.

GOING TO SLEEP.

The light is fading down the sky,
The shadows grow and multiply,
 I hear the thrush's evening song;
 But I have born with toil and wrong
 So long, so long!
Dim dreams my drowsy senses drown—
So, darling, kiss my eyelids down.

My life's brief spring went wasted by,
My summer's ended fruitlessly;
 I learned to hunger, strive and wait!
 I found you, love—oh happy fate!
 So late, so late!
Now all my fields are turning brown,
So, darling kiss my eyelids down!

Oh, blessed sleep! oh, perfect rest!
Thus pillowed on your faithful breast,
 Nor life nor death is wholly drear,
 Oh, tender heart, since you are here,
 So dear, so dear!
Sweet love, my soul's sufficient crown!
Now, darling, kiss my eyelids down!

Mental Energy.

It is energy of will that is the soul of the intellect; wherever it is, there is life; where it is not, all is dulness, and despondency, and desolation. People who have no experience of it, imagine that it is destructive to the nerves, exhaustive of the animal spirits; that it aggravates the wear and tear of life excessively. But this is an idle notion, as idle as the habits and humors of those who entertain it. I leave it to any man who knows its real effect, to strike the balance—to compare the exhaustion of an indolent day with that of an active one; to say in which of the two cases the subject is in better heart for work, and fitter to undergo it. Whatever we may be about, one thing, we believe, is certain—that if the spirits are spent by energy, they are utterly wasted by idleness; at worst, energy can only end in relaxation, it is superior to it for a while, and possibly at last may fall into it; whereas, idleness is actually relaxation from first to last, and can be nothing else. But even this view, favorable as it is, is yet not favorable enough to be just. The fact is, that violence is not necessary to energy any more than tyranny is to kingship; on the contrary, it is the gentlest energy that does the most work. Energy, literally from the Greek, is inward-workingness; the blooming of the flower is energy, the increase of fruit is energy, the growth of the body is energy; yet in all these there is no violence; the efficacy is not destructive, but vital; without it the whole frame must fall at once into corruption; with it, instead of corruption, we have life. But this, it may be said, is a refinement. It may be so, but it is true in fact, nevertheless. The gainsayer will find it difficult to produce any thing from the subject of surer or more essential truth.

THE HUSBAND.—Ladies some times do not value their husbands as they ought. They not unfrequently learn the value of a good husband for the first time by the loss of him. Yet the husband is the very roof-tree of the house, the corner-stone of the edifice, the keystone of the arch called home. He is the bread winner of the family, the defence, and its glory, the beginning and ending of the golden chain of life which surrounds it, its consoler, its law giver, and its king. And yet we see how frail is that life on which so much depends! When he is taken away, who shall fill his place? When he is ill, what gloomy clouds hover over the house! When he is dead, what darkness, weeping, agony! Then poverty, like the murderous assassin, breaks in at the windows; starvation, like a famishing wolf, howls at the door. Widowhood is too often an associate of sackcloth and ashes. Orphanhood, too, means desolation and woe.

SNOW.—The world is crazy for show. There is not one perhaps in a thousand who dares fall back on his real, simple self for power to get through the world, and exact enjoyment as he goes along. There is no end to the apeing, the mimicry, the false airs, and the superficial airs. It requires rare courage, we admit, to live up to one's enlightened convictions in these days. Unless you consent to join in the general cheat, there is no room for you among the general mob of pretenders. If a man desires to live within his means, and is resolute in his purpose not to appear more than he really is, let him be applauded. There s some thing fresh and invigorating in such in example, and we should honor and uphold such a plan with all the energy in our power.

A TRAVELER, who demanded his trunk at a Baltimore depot before all others, and was told by the Irish baggage master that he must have patience and wait his turn, turned upon the baggage master with, "you're an impudent dog."—To which he of the trunks rejoined:—"An' faith, ye are a monkey, and its a great pity that when we two were made bastes, ye wasn't made an illiphant, so that yer could have yer blasted trunk under yer nose all the time."

SORROW ought to be the domesticated guest of our souls, as much as joy and pleasure; it also is sent down upon us from above; and He who counts all tears, who tries our hearts, He knows well what we weak mortals are fitted to enpure.

"Get out of the way boy! get out of the way!" said a gentleman on horse back to a boy in the road. "My horse don't like donkeys."

"Then why don't he kick you off."

Wit and Justice in Missouri.

It is well known that some of the judges in Missouri are very reluctant to enforce the law against ministers of the gospel for exercising their profession without having taken the test oath, and avail themselves of every pretence to discharge those who are accused. We tell the following tale as it is told to us, vouching for nothing:

Three ministers, charged with the crime of preaching "the glorious gospel of the Son of God," were arraigned before a certain judge. They were regularly indicted, and it was understood that the proof against them was very clear.

"Are you a preacher?" said the Judge to one of them.

"Yes, sir," replied the culprit.

"To what denomination do you belong?"

"I am a Christian, sir." (With dignity.)

"A Christian! What do you mean by that? Are not all preachers Christians?"

"I belong to the sect usually called, but wrongly called, Campbellites." (Not so much dignity.)

"Ah! Then you believe in baptizing people, in order that they may be born again, do you?"

"I do, sir" (Defiantly.)

"Mr. Sheriff, discharge that man! He is an innocent man! He is indicted fer preaching the gospel, and there is not a word of gospel in the stuff he preaches! It is only some of Alexander Campbell's nonsense. Discharge the man!"

Exit Cambellite, greatly rejoicing.

"Are you a preacher?" said the Judge, addressing the second criminal.

"I am, sir," said the miscreant.

"Of what denomination are you?"

"I am a Methodist, sir." (His looks showed it.)

"Do you believe in falling from grace?"

"I do, sir." (Without hesitation.)

"Do you believe in sprinkling people instead of baptizing them?"

"I believe that people can be baptized by sprinkling." (Much offended.)

"Do you believe in baptizing babies?"

"It is my opinion, sir, that infants ought to be baptized." (Indignantly.)

"Not a word of Scripture for anything of the kind, sir!" shouted his Honour. "Mr. Sheriff, turn that man loose! He is no preacher of the gospel! The gospel is truth, and there is not a word of truth in what that man teaches! Turn him loose! It is ridiculous to indict men on such frivulous pretences! Turn him loose!"

Methodist disappears, not at all hurt in his feelings by the judicial abuse he had received.

"What are you, sir?" said the Judge to the third felon.

"Some people call me a preacher, sir." (Meekly.)

"What is your denomination?"

"I am a Baptist." (Head up)

His Honour's countenance fell, and he looked sober and sad. After a pause he said:

"Do you believe in salvation by grace?"

"I do." (Firmly.)

"Do you teach that immersion only is baptism?"

"That is my doctrine." (Earnestly.)

"And you baptize none but those who believe in Jesus Christ?"

"That is my faith and practice." (With emphasis.)

"My friend, I fear it will go hard with you. I see you are indicted for preaching the gospel, and it appears to me that by your own confession you are guilty."

Baptist looked pretty blue.

"May it please your Honour," said the Baptist's counsel, springing to his feet, "that man never preached the gospel. I have heard him say a hundred times that he only tried. I have heard him try myself."

"Mr. Sheriff, discharge this man! He is not indicted for trying! There is nothing said about the mere effort! Let him go, sir! I am astonished that the State's attorney should annoy the court with frivulous indictments!"

Exit Baptist, determined to "try" again.

Court adjourned.

"God save the State and this honourable court!" exclaimed the Sheriff.

"Amen!" said the three preachers.

Our devil says he knows some preachers, not a thousand miles from Bellefonte, who would also be held guiltless of preaching the Gospel, if brought up on such a charge in Missouri. He also says he has his doubts, as to weather even his Honor, Judge Mayer, would entertain for a moment in his Honorable Court any indictment against them if founded upon the charge of preaching the Gospel. Provided that preaching the Gospel was an indictable offence. It may be that our devil does not know.

A LATE judge was a noted wag. A young lawyer was once making his first effort before him, and had thrown himself on the wings of his imagination far into the upper regions, and was seemingly preparing for a higher ascent, when the judge exclaimed, "Hold on, hold on, my dear sir! Don't go any higher, for you are already out of the jurisdiction of the court."

"My dear doctor," said a lady, "I suffer a great deal with my eyes." "Be patient, madam," he replied, "you would probably suffer a great deal more without them."

BELLEFONTE REPUBLICAN.

W. W. BROWN, A. B. HUTCHISON, } EDITORS.

Terms $2 Per Annum in Advance.

BELLEFONTE, PA.,

Wednesday Morning, June 1, 1870.

BARGAINS! BARGAINS!!

The Bellefonte "Republican" and the "American Agriculturist."

We are now prepared to offer to the people of Centre county, a Great Bargain for the coming year. It is this: To every subscriber who will send us $3.00, in advance, we will send the

BELLEFONTE "REPUBLICAN,"
and the
"AMERICAN AGRICULTURIST,"

for one year. Of the REPUBLICAN we need not speak at present.

The American Agriculturist is a work that no farmer, nor house keeper should be without. As a farm journal we think it has no superior in the world—certainly none in the United States. It is issued monthly, and the subscription price is $1.50 per annum. By clubbing with the REPUBLICAN you save fifty cents, and secure more good reading matter than you can obtain in any other way for the same money.

We hope the reading public will avail themselves of this very liberal offer.

MATERIAL FOR SALE!

Having purchased the "Bellefonte National" Printing office, for the purpose of consolidating with the BELLEFONTE REPUBLICAN, we now offer for sale a complete out-fit for a country newspaper office, including one Liberty Job Press, Stands, Cases, Stones, &c., &c., all of which we will sell at remarkably low prices, for cash or good paper.

We ask it as a special favor that our contemporaries make a note of this or copy it to se time.

R. B. BARGER,
Propietor Bellefonte Republican.

TO THE PUBLIC.

The undersigned having sold to R. B. Barger the office and good-will of the BELLEFONTE REPUBLICAN, hereby gives notice that he has, from this date, ceased to publish this paper, and to trade as A. B. Hutchison & Co.—All persons who are indebted to said office, or to A. B. Hutchison & Co., are notified to call upon R. B Barger and settle said accounts, and those who have claims to present the same to him, as he has assumed them, and will settle all the business of the said firm.

I will continue to contribute to and support said paper in every way possible, and cordially recommend it to the patronage of the public. I thank its patrons for their past very generous support, and only ask that, in its new, and soon-to be improved form, you will all unite to aid it by printing more, subscribing more and advertising more, and that you will never defer for more than a day the paying of the printer. I think my Editorial labors and responsibilities are finally ended. I am not sorry, and doubt if many of you are; but if so, why thanks, and hopes that you may find, as I know you will, in Barger, the practical, hard-working printer, and Brown, the live, energetic and fearless Editor, a party who will vindicate their right to have a newspaper, and their ability to make it pay them and you.

A. B. HUTCHISON.

The National Non Est—The Republican to be Enlarged.

We are happy to announce to the sterling Republicans of Centre County, that hereafter there will be but one Republican paper published in Bellefonte. We know that this announcement will be received with great pleasure by our friends, and by every good and true Republican in the county, who desires the success of Republican principles—peace and harmony in our ranks—the end of cliques and factions and the beginning of a better, brighter and more glorious era in Centre county politics.

Last week the stock-holders of the National sold all the material, fixtures, good-will, &c., of that office to Capt. R. B. Barger, hitherto foreman in the REPUBLICAN office. Mr. Barger then purchased the interest of Capt. A. B. Hutchison, in the Republican office, by which purchase or arrangement the National ceases to exist, and the BELLEFONTE REPUBLICAN will be considerably enlarged and improved.

As will be seen by an article over his own signature, Capt. Hutchison, gracefully retires from the chair editorial, to attend to the more laborious duties of the legal profession, and to a practice hitherto lucrative, but now rapidly increasing.

We have been so busily engaged in moving the material of the National office, that the publication of the REPUBLICAN has been delayed, and we have had no time to devote to the enlargement or consolidation of the papers this number. NEXT week, we trust, will find us "clothed in our right minds," and prepared to send forth one of the best and most beautiful papers ever published in this county.

The subscription list of the National has not been furnished us, and, therefore, the subscribers to that paper will not receive this number of the REPUBLICAN. No arrangement has yet been made with us to fill out the contracts of C.B. Gould, late Editor of the National, or to send the REPUBLICAN to those who had paid him for the National in advance. Time makes all things even, and we have no doubt arrangements will yet be made in this particular that will prove satisfactory to all. We extend a cordial invitation to all of the National subscribers to send in their names to the REPUBLICAN, and at the same time we guarantee you a good paper, and full value for your investment.

It is the intention of Captain Barger to spare neither time nor money to make the REPUBLICAN, in its appearance and workmanship, a superior paper, while we, in our capacity as editor shall, in our modest way, devote our time, our best energies, and all the assistance we can command, to making the REPUBLICAN a high-toned, moral and readable paper—a fearless advocate of Republican men and measures—a terror to evil doers, copperheads and dirty, discord-sowing mal-contents, who are never happy, only when they are in office, or in search of one. W. W. BROWN, Editor.

—I fully endorse the above, and, as Proprietor of the REPUBLICAN, I hereby pledge myself to stand by the Republican party and its liberty-loving principles, and to do all in my power to allay discord, and encourage peace and harmony in our ranks, and the final glorious redemption of our county from Democratic Rings, ruin and misrule.

R. B. BARGER, Proprietor.

The Democratic Watchman.

Slander cannot make the subject of it either better or worse. It may represent us in a false light, or place a likeness of us in a bad position; but we are the same; not so the slanderer, for calumny always makes the calummiator worse, but the calumniated, never. Yet, when slander is engendered and circulated with malignant intent to rob you of your good name, injure you in your moral character, and in your business pursuits to gain an honest living, it is a duty to a reading public to drag such miscreant traducers before the bar of public opinion, and

"Put a whip in every honest hand,
To lash such rascals naked round the world.

We are lead to these remarks by an Editorial in the last Watchman, emenating from the prolific brain of P. G. Meek, and his dormant coadjutor, J.W. Furey, under the caption of "After their Pay—Armstrong goes $250 with Proviso."

We quote from this vile and insidious fabrication a few extracts, to show the turpitude and maliciousness of Meek and Furey. These guerrillas say: First. "Because we know that Bill Brown "tried to bleed Huff, (out of money) "the man he blowed for, for State Treas- "urer." Second. "Brown started to "Washington to get pay; reaching Harrisburg, Brown heads for the Winneba- "goes, and finding the old chap at home, "opened the subject at once—stating "that he just needed $500. Simon "couldn't see it—Cameron refused to give "him the paltry sum of $50." Third.—"He polled for Washington. On reach- "ing Armstrong's room, the introduction "was a little more extended. In fact, "Brown told him (Armstrong) that noth- "ing short of a thousand dollars would "fix things up. Brown fearing he would "get nothing, finally compromised in "this way: "He was to come home, "draw up a note for one thousand dol- "lars, payable in one year, and get three "responsible Centre county men to en- "dorse it, Armstrong agreeing to be the "fourth, and when the note came due, "if he (Brown) had blowed for Arm- "strong as he agreed to, Armstrong was "to pay $250 of the note, and Brown "and his other endorsers were to fix the "balance as they saw proper."

We have thus ex'racted from this venomous and vile libel, invented by those political assassins of the Watchman against their neighbors, that our readers may see the depth of depravity and recklessness which Meek and Furey have reached. No sex, age or condition escapes their vituperation, filth and slime.

As respects ourself, we should have let their slanderous falsehoods pass us as the idle wind, knowing that the moral and honest citizens of Centre county have put their mark upon the indicted and convicted libellers. Their character for slander; their infamous disregard for truth, and their love for knavery, treachery, peculation and envy are notoriously known in this community. But this may not be so well known at a distance, where their cess-pool circulates, and it is for this reason that we notice them at present, and believing it to be our duty to the moral community, we declare that the articles we have referred to, and extracted from, as published in the Watchman, are false, in every particular, and pronounce to the world that P. G. Meek and J. W. Furey in inditing and publishing the same under the semblance of facts are infamous, malignant and base liars, asking our readers pardon for being compelled to use such epithets even to dogs.

THE NEW YORK ELECTION.—The Democrats are much elated over their large majority in New York at the election held last week. The papers teem with reports of frauds practiced by Democratic "repeaters," and as a sample we clip the following from The Post, which readily accounts for their large majority:

"The repeaters voted early and often, not from any necessity there was for fraudulent votes in most of the districts, but apparently 'for the fun of the thing.' It cannot be denied that these scoundrels displayed traces of humor. For instance, Police Justice Hogan, one of the 'Young Democrats,' it is said, saw a fellow voting on his name. He remonstrated, and demanded the repeater's arrest, but was laughed at, and lost his vote. Between eleven and twelve hundred negroes registered as voters, at least five hundred of them discovered, when they got to the polls that repeater's had already voted on their names; and some of the luckless blacks were gravely arrested as repeaters for attempting to vote on their own names."

THE Reading Eagle indignantly denies that the New York World is the National Organ of the Democracy. It is an ably conducted paper, but cannot be trusted, says the Eagle. We stand corrected. The World, we should have stated, is the most respectable and able democratic paper in the country, but that does not by any means constitute it the organ of the party. That honor belongs to the New York (formerly La Crosse) Democrat, published by Brick Pomeroy.

The Election for Governor.

In our opinion it is too soon to talk or write upon the subject of the next Gubernatorial election in this State. One thing is certain, we have a most excellent independent and fearless Governor, in Gen. Jno. W. Geary, and so long as Pennsylvania is blessed with such men in official position, the tax-payers will have no reason to complain. It may be well enough to be casting about for some other good man to take the place of Governor Geary when his term of office expires. There is certainly nothing culpable in this, nothing that the public can condemn. We have no scarcity of material to select from—no lack of good men,—men who are qualified in every respect to fill the responsible and laborious position. The "Evening Star," published in Philadelphia has an idea that we cannot be too soon in fixing our choice and selecting our next candidate. Without any hesitation or fear of failure it, without reserve, comes out in favor of Hon. Wm. H. Armstrong as its favorite candidate for the next Governorship of this State.

One of its correspondents writing from Washington, (May 20th) in reference to the next Governor's election, says:

"One would think from the frequency of allusion thereto by prominent Pennsylvanians here, that the election for Governor occurs this fall instead of next. A bunch of politicians, gathered about a bar—you'll always find them there, Pennsylvanians, I mean—and the subject discussed is our next probable Governor. I have been to some pains to gather the sentiments of the people from the whole State, and it seems to me the choice will be made from the northern tier of counties—the 'black district,' as it is called. No Governor has been taken from the northern part of the State within the memory of man. David Wilmot was once nominated, but it was at a time when there was no hope of success.

Now, when the Republicans are sure of electing their candidate, the North demands that her claims shall be recognized; and as she contributes more largely to the success of the Republican ticket than any other part, and gives a majority that can be counted on every time, it is not improbable that she will succeed. She will at all events make a good fight for it. As to the candidates, several are named, but the strength seems to be centering on WILLIAM H. ARMSTRONG, the present Congressman from the Williamsport district. He has taken a prominent position among the strong men in Congress, and has for years stood as a prominent lawyer in all the State Courts, and served several terms in the State Legislature with great credit.

He has all the elements of a popular Governor, wealth, social position, a powerful mind, large experience, agreeable manners and moral firmness and habits beyond suspicion. He is one of the most accomplished gentlemen in Congress, and is known to be one of the most intimate with the government officials. It is the general belief that a civillian will be chosen, on the ground that the military element should be satisfied with the two terms of General Geary.

The Census.

On Wednesday, the 1st inst., the Assistant Marshalls began the work of enumeration. It will be the imperative duty of every one to answer all questions asked them by the Marshal. It is supposed that there are many who will think that a tax will be assessed on them, and answer incorrectly. No tax will be laid, nor in any way connected with these duties, and any persons refusing to answer correctly, is liable to a fine of thirty dollars, to be sued for, and recovered in an action of debt by the Assistant, to the use of the United States. It is, therefore, enjoined upon all to answer truthfully all questions. To cause as little delay as possible, the following are some of the questions the farmers and business men must answer, and it is asked of them to be prepared when called upon: Value of farming implements and machinery; total amount of wages paid during year, including board; value of all live stock; number of bushels wheat, rye, corn, oats, barley, buckwheat, potatoes, clover and grass seed, pounds of wool, butter, cheese, hops, flax, sugar, maple and cane, wax, honey; gallons of wine, molasses; tons of hay, value of produce of market-gardens and orchard products; capital (real and personal) invested in business; average number of hands employed; number of months in active operation; materials—kind, quantity and value; products—kind, quantity and value. All these are to be given for the year commencing June 1, 1869, and ending June 1, 1870. No fears of disclosures need be entertained, as no graver fense can be committed by the Marshal than the disclosure of any information acquired while in the discharge of his duty.

At the late reunion of the Illinois Fourteenth Regiment a letter from Senator Yates was read, in which he said that, although far away from them, he shed a sincere tear for the noble dead of the regiment who sleep in patriotic and immortal graves on so many fields of glory. In conclusion he said: "If we, the people of the United States, shall faithfully secure to ourselves and our children the real objects for which the war was fought, then the blood of our soldiers will not be on our hands. Otherwise, I say, God save the Republic, and save us myself, and one, and all from the agency we have had in it."

Vallandingham is reported to have said, in a recent speech in Dayton, Ohio, that he is done with politics for the present and the Cincinnati Gazette intimates that it is well a fair and a just reciprocity on his part politics having signified, some time ago, that at least for the present, it was done with Mr. Vallandingham.

The wife of Senator Wilson died at Natick, Mass., last Saturday afternoon.

A Chapter on "Growlers."

From the Huntingdon Republican.

"Debt! debt!! debt!!!"
"Taxes! taxes!! taxes!!!"
"Ruin! ruin!! ruin!!!"
"Nigger! nigger!! nigger!!!"
"Give us a chance of rulers, and we will change all this."
"Elect Democrats, and we will keep the tax collectors from your doors."
"Give us a change, and we will give you 'good times.'"

The above will be recognized as the growls of a large class of the "superior race," as heard during the late rebellion, and since. And these growls all have a hidden meaning which loyal men understood well during the war, and they will not fail to interpret them correctly now. They mean repudiation of the national debt, and restoration to political power of the old dynasty that had slavery for its foundation, and free trade for its superstructure.

The race of "growlers" will never become extinct. Like the poor, you will always have them "with you."—You are not permitted to despise them—but you may pity them as much as you please.

There are men who are as prone to growl as sparks are to fly upward.—There are those who growl because they are so constituted, mentally and physically, that they cannot help it; they growl at everything except at what they do themselves. And there are others who are always happy when the official teat is in their own mouths, but, miserable growlers, whenever it happens to be in other mouths. Of this latter class many appear to have control of Democratic newspapers, and are indulging, to their hearts' content, their natural propensity to growl. The above are specimens, not of anything that rises to the dignity of argument, but the constant mutterings of the indomitable "growler."

The growler was opposed to the war. He said "you cannot coerce a sovereign State." The rebels in arms were encamped almost in sight of the capitol, ready to seize the presidential mansion, and all the departments, and the halls of Congress at the first opportunity, as they had already seized the forts and arsenals, with the arms and munitions of war. The rebels wanted to be let alone. The growler said "let them alone." And he acted out his creed. He holds no government bonds for he would not loan his money to the government in the hour of its peril.—He gets no pension, for his sympathies and his "let alone" policy kept his body intact. While his neighbor was fighting for the preservation of the Union the growler could see nothing in it but the "nigger"—a "fight for the nigger." He is, therefore, not interested in pensions and bonds; but he is opposed to the "nigger" and to taxes, especially to the latter.

The government wanted men.

The man just across the way, full of patriotism and zeal, shouldered his musket and marched to the front. He gave the government a leg or an arm before he came back. His comrade gave his life for his country, and commended his widow and his orphan children to the government. These are interested in pensions and also in the raising of revenue to pay them.

These men fought to keep the rebels from destroying, not only the government, but your home, reader, and ours, and all that is near and dear to you and to us.

This maimed soldier, and this widow and her orphan children are representatives of thousands who thus sacrificed their lives or their limbs for the preservation of the Union. The government generously provides the means to pension these. When the revenue collector calls upon the demagogue for his small pittance towards this bounty he growls out "taxes, ruin and starvation;" and the color of shame never comes to his cheeks. Shall such men administer the government?

The government wanted money.

It did not send forth officers as it might have done, to break open the chests and safes of those who had the "material aid," and appropriate it as a necessity of the war; but it said "Give us your money, and we will be your debtor—we will give you our bond, and pay you six per cent. in gold—and as we know you could realize more than that out of your money, we agree that you shall not be required to pay taxes on our debt;" and the men of noble impulses and patriotic hearts, even in that gloomy hour of our country's sore trial, opened their coffers and handed out the "sinews of war." Men, women and orphan children handed over their money for government bonds—not at a discount—but a dollar in money for every dollar in bonds; and the government paid it out to the "boys in blue" who had marched to the front. The government now pays the interest on those loans in gold, according to contract; and the "growler" complains of "debts, hard times, high taxes, and low wages."—He had no faith in the government—no faith in its promises. It would "repudiate its debts—it could never conquer the rebels—the war would be a failure—the national debt would never be paid." He has no government bonds. He preferred loaning his money to his neighbor who, like himself, had no faith in government bonds, and he secured his loan by a judgment on real estate at 8 or 10 per cent., and is still drawing it and holding on to his judgment; and now he complains and growls out, "Shall we work and sweat on and on, evermore, simply to raise taxes to pay the bondholder who has been paid over and over again for his loan to the government?" He has no bonds, and he is ready to repudiate rather than to pay them in the hands of others. Shall such men rule?

This is the complaint of the chronic growler; but the growler of more expansive imagination gives the same with the variations. He still sees the "nigger in the woodpile," and the taxes are wrung from "the poor white man to educate Cuffee's children, and to make Sambo a voter." And then the ingenious growler always has a panacea ready for all these ills; and we give the prescription in his own simple words: "Give us a change, and we will give you good times; elect Democrats, and all will be well."

Yes, the only way to silence these demagogues is to give them the public teat. But the people will not reward them thus, but let the growler go on and on evermore.

Attention, Batalion!

(From the Tyrone Herald.)

The following is from the Radical of last week. The statement that a lodge was organized in this place is correct. Their last meeting was held in the Good Templars' Hall, on Monday night last, and comprised some thirty or forty persons, about one half of whom were Republicans and the other half Democrats. Let every republican who favors this move read this article and consider the matter thoroughly, and he will soon be convinced that it is a Democratic dodge to carry the next election, and not for the benefit of the working man, &c., as is set forth in their platform:

The Huntingdon Republican this week in a leading article warns the Republican party of the formation of a secret organization in this Senatorial district, to carry it Democratic at the approaching election. Ostensibly this new organization is intended to oppose the political rights of the colored people and protect those of the white workingmen; but really it is a democratic movement to hoodwink unsuspecting Republicans into voting for a distinctive ticket, in the hope that thereby the regular Democratic Senatorial ticket may be successful. The organization is intended to catch such Republicans as can be operated upon by prejudice against the colored race and who can be induced to favor a distinctive labor movement, and so preachers, doctors, lawyers, editors, storekeepers and politicians are excluded from membership. Sufficient is known to satisfy us that the organization is already pretty generally established in Huntingdon county and that it is controlled by the Democratic party who have furnished the necessary money to establish lodges throughout this entire district. So far it is believed but few Republicans have been caught and in all cases enough Democratic workingmen have joined to give it the appearance of being distinct from both political parties. From private letters we know a lodge was established in Tyrone last week and one will be started in this city on Saturday night.

We warn the Republican party of this movement in time, and trust the active men will at once take measures to frustrate the schemes of those who are determined to secure two Democratic Senators from this district at any cost of money or principle. All that is needed to defeat the scheme is to put those unsuspecting Republicans who can be easily persuaded, upon their guard. There may be men in the Republican ranks who do not fully endorse Negro suffrage, and there, doubtless, are among us men who are eager to join any movement intended to more effectually protect the laboringmen. Those men are honest in their convictions, and will not knowingly unite in any movement intended to result in a Democratic triumph. We have confidence in the Republican army being able to detect the bushwhacker when once his face is seen. Let our friends, then, strip these bushwhackers of their disguise and show up the Rebel gray beneath the Union blue. "Let there be vigilance along the whole line," said our great Captain at a time when he thought one sleeping sentinel might risk his command.

A Shameful Record for the New York Democracy.

In 1867, the Democratic Ring of New York City first successfully applied their tactics of fraud to the State election. In that year, their State ticket was returned "elected," by an average majority of very nearly fifty thousand. In 1868, the same trick was repeated, and the State ticket of the Tammany swindlers was returned, by almost thirty thousand majority, while the electors were handed over to Messrs Seymour and Blair, with a certificate that they had been chosen by ten thousand majority.

This list was not only a shameful outrage upon the real political preference of the State of New York, as had been the successful conspiracy of 1867, but it showed how the thieves and swindlers who had first seized the city and then the State, were capable of, and might be able to, even control the Nation. Had the election for President, in 1868, been a close one, so that the thirty-three electors from New York would have decided it, the fraudulent practices of Sweeny, Tweed, and Hoffman would have set Horatio Seymour in the White House, just as they had so often placed their less prominent tools in the local offices of New York City.

A special Congressional Committee, whereof Hon. William Lawrence of Ohio, acted as Chairman, spent several weeks, in the winter of 1868-69, in the patient and thorough examination of the means which had been used for the infamous and alarming result stated. The examined hundreds of witnesses, and made official and legal record of what, previously, had been well understood, but unofficial facts. In a lengthy report, submitted to the House in February, they stated that they had found:—

"1. Many thousands of aliens fraudulently procured orwere furnished with certificates of naturalization illegally or fraudulently issued, by means of which they were enabled to register as voters, and voted in violation of law.

"2. Many hundreds of certificates of naturalization were granted in the names of fictitious persons, to be used by native-born, and naturalized citizens, and aliens, in falsely registering as voters, and to enable them to vote many times at the election.

"3. Many hundreds of persons voted in New York city from two to forty times or more, each under assumed or fictitious names, fraudulently registered for the purpose.

"4. Extensive frauds were committed in canvassing tickets, and names of voters were entered on the poll lists, and Democratic tickets counted, as if voters representing them had voted, when no such persons voted at all.

"5. To accomplish these frauds, gross neglect of duty and disregard of law so great as to evince a criminal purpose prevailed in some of the courts while officers and Democratic partisans of almost every grade, either by official influence, or otherwise, aided, sanctioned or knew of, and failed to prevent them. The same influences shielded the perpetrators in nearly all cases from detection or arrest, and when arrested, they have, through the agency of judicial officers, and others charged with the duty of prosecution, escaped all punishment.

"6. Through these agencies the Democratic electors of President and Vice President, and the Democratic candidate for Governor the State of New York were fraudulently elected."

This summary states, in precise terms, the main facts ascertained by the Committee, and places on record the corruption and disregard of law which had characterized previous elections in the city of New York. Just such processes were again employed in 1869, and again in the recent election for judges. At such a condition of things good men may well pause, in alarm, for the safety of our Government, and the rights it is intended to secure, while the man who can rejoice over it, or over its results, must be blind to the dangers of his situation, and devoid of shame for his party.

Senator Shermon on Election Frauds.

From the Washington Daily Globe.

Mr. SHERMAN;—My colleague alludes to the fact that I live in a Democratic region; but let me say to my colleague that in Richland county, where I live, and where I know the people well, many of whom are my intimate friends, there could not be found a Democratic jury of twelve men who would not convict these scoundrels under the law of the State or nation for the crimes that are pointed out in the nineteenth and twentieth sections of this bill. This amendment of mine is aimed at the repeaters, the open violators of the law in the city of New-York, who make the elective franchise a farce and a fraud; and I say the Democrats of Richland county will not thank my colleague for associating them with these Democratic repeaters of the city of New York, although my friend from Kentucky seems to be willing to take the association. Sir, there is, in the city of New York, a degree of corruption in the elective franchise that exists nowhere else in the wide world, and this Government of ours will, in my judgment, be overthrown by this corruption, unless we can prevent it by legal penalties. The object of my amendment simply was to prevent election frauds by legal penalties; and I say, so far as the Democrats of Ohio are concerned, there are few of them who would not send to the penitentiary any man guilty of the crimes referred to in the nineteenth and twentieth sections of this bill. The only objection that is made—and there is where the shoe pinches—is that the bill transfers the punishment of these crimes from the State Courts of the city of New York, to the United States Courts. Who would think of indicting anybody for an election fraud in a State Court in the city of New York? Why, Sir, the Judges themselves are elected by these very repeaters; the Judges themselves are the instruments of the very men who are sought to be punished by these two sections. * * * *

In my judgment, the amendment that I proposed, will be sustained by the sentiment of the good men of the Democratic party of Ohio. I am sure, if I were to go before the Democrats where I live, and read them these sections, they would agree that the man who violated those sections ought to be sent to the penitentiary. Sir, there is no offense so mean as the violation of the elective franchise.

AMONG THE INDIANS. Lieut. Herndon tells us that no tribes of aborigines are found in the deepest forests of South America, from the Andes to the Atlantic coast, that do not have and use Doctor Ayer's medicines and Lowell cottons. "TREMONT" "SUFFOLK," BOOTT," are seen stamped in large red and blue letters upon their garments, while Ayer's Pills and Cherry Pectoral are among the treasures of their habitations. Their native soil furnishes them all their food and most of their remedies, but they suffer from some afflictions which must have the interposition of higher skill.—Sentinel, Liberty, Va.

The question is whether, since that paper was recognized as a legal tender in Virginia at the time of the transfer, the bargain was valid.

A hack, on its way to a depot in Boston the other day, became mixed up in an almost interminable funeral procession. Coming to a spot where two ways met, the head of the procession turned one way, the hack another; the carriages in the rear followed the latter and the deluded drivers noticed not their error until they were quite nigh the depot. Then there was turning in hot haste, and a lively time made until the solemn and staid portion of the funeral procession was overtaken.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla,

FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

The reputation this excellent medicine enjoys, is derived from its cures, many of which are truly marvellous. Inveterate cases of scrofulous disease, where the system seemed saturated with corruption, have been purified and cured by it. Scrofulous affections and disorders, which were aggravated by the scrofulous contamination until they were painfully afflicting, have been radically cured in such great numbers in almost every section of the country, that the public scarcely need to be informed of its virtues or uses.

Scrofulous poison is one of the most destructive enemies of our race. Often, this unseen and unfelt tenant of the organism undermines the constitution, and invites the attack of enfeebling or fatal diseases, without exciting a suspicion of its presence. Again, it seems to lurk in infection throughout the body, and then, on some favorable occasion, rapidly develop into one or other of its hideous forms, either on the surface or among the vitals. In the latter, tubercles may be suddenly deposited in the lungs or heart, or tumors formed in the liver, or it shows its presence by eruptions on the skin, or foul ulcerations on some part of the body. Hence the occasional use of a bottle of this Sarsaparilla is advisable, even when no active symptoms of disease appear. Persons afflicted with the following complaints generally find immediate relief, and, at length, cure, by the use of this SARSAPARILLA: St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Sore Eyes, Sore Ears, and other eruptions or visible forms of Scrofulous disease. Also in the more concealed forms, as Dyspepsia, Dropsy, Heart Disease, Fits, Epilepsy, Neuralgia, and the various Ulcerous affections of the muscular and nervous systems.

Syphilis or Venereal and Mercurial Diseases are cured by it, though a long time is required for subduing these obstinate maladies by any medicine. But long-continued use of this medicine will cure the complaint. Leucorrhœa or Whites, Uterine Ulcerations, and Female Diseases, are commonly soon relieved and ultimately cured by its purifying and invigorating effect. Minute directions for each case are found in our Almanac, supplied gratis. Rheumatism and Gout, when caused by accumulations of extraneous matters in the blood, yield quickly to it, as also Liver Complaints, Torpidity, Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and Jaundice, when arising, as they often do, from the rankling poisons in the blood. This SARSAPARILLA is a great restorer for the strength and vigor of the system. Those who are Languid and Listless, Despondent, Sleepless, and troubled with Nervous Apprehensions or Fears, or any of the affections symptomatic of Weakness, will find immediate relief and convincing evidence of its restorative power upon trial.

ROSADALIS.

THE GREAT AMERICAN health RESTORER, purifies the blood and cures Scrofula, Syphilis, Skin diseases, Rheumatism, Diseases of Women, and all Chronic Affections of the blood, Liver and Kidneys. Recommended by the Medical Faculty and many thousands of our best citizens. Read the testimony of Physicians and patients who have used Rosadalis; send for our Rosadalis Guide to Health Book, or Almanac for this year, which we publish for gratuitous distribution; it will give you much valuable information.

Dr. R. W. Carr, of Baltimore, says:

I take pleasure in recommending your ROSADALIS as a very powerful alterative. I have seen it used in two cases with happy results—one in a case of secondary syphilis, in which the patient pronounced himself cured after having taken five bottles of your medicine. The other is a case of scrofula of long standing, which is rapidly improving under its use, and the indications are that the patient will soon recover. I have carefully examined the formula by which your Rosadalis is made, and find it an excellent compound of alterative ingredients.

Dr. Sparks, of Nicholasville, Ky., says he has used Rosadalis in cases of Scrofula and Secondary Syphilis with satisfactory results—as a cleanser of the Blood I know no better remedy.

Samuel G. McFadden, Murfreesboro', Tenn., says:

I have used seven bottles of Rosadalis, and am entirely cured of Rheumatism; send me four bottles, as I wish it for my brother, who has scrofulous sore eyes.

Benjamin Bechtel, of Lima, Ohio, writes, I have suffered for twenty years with an inveterate eruption over my whole body; a short time since I purchased a bottle of Rosadalis and it effected a perfect cure.

Rosadalis is sold by F. P. Green and Druggists generally.

JEWELRY.—It is with pleasure we call the attention of our readers to the advertisement of F. P. Blair, in another column of the REPUBLICAN. We have no hesitation in saying that Frank is the best engraver to be found in the State, outside the cities, and we have grave doubts as to whether he has any superior in the cities. When we say this, we mean it, and can assure our readers that the man who can beat Frank has not yet "turned up."

He is about moving his splendid establishment to the Bush House—to the room formerly occupied by Miss Lembky. It is a good location, the very best in town and should secure Frank a large and additional patronage. Every person who wants jewelry; every person who has a watch to repair; every person who wishes to purchase a good Elgin watch—the very best in the market and at prices which defy competition, should call on Frank.

Any person who wishes to purchase a Waltham Watch, or a Gold Watch, full jeweled and have them warranted, should call at Frank's establishment. If you do so, you can rest assured that you will not be fleeced—that you will get just what you bargain for,

Frank, is also, sole agent for the celbrated Diamond Spectacles, recommended by the first opticians in the world, as the very best in the market.

His facilities for repairing cannot be equaled in this town nor surpassed anywhere in the State of Pennsylvania.

We ask our friends to patronize Frank feeling assured that you will not be humbugged, or rue obeying our advice. We mean what we say.

BRASS BAND.—The Bellefonte Brass Band, on Friday night, the 27th of May, feeling that they needed a little recreation, and some pleasure payed a visit to the Pleasant Gap Hotel, Henry Nace, Proprietor. They had sent Mr. Nace no word of warning, nevertheless, they found everything in the best of order, and were treated to a first-class supper—one of the best, they say, that it has ever been their pleasure to partake of. Mr. Nace knows how to cater to the wants of his guests, and his excellent lady is hard to excel in the culinary art. It is no exaggeration to say, that together they know how to keep a Hotel.

Having partaken of the supper prepared by Mr. & Mrs. Nace, the Band started on their return for home. In the best of spirits they reached the residence of our friend J. G. Lourimore, and concluded to serenade him. To this end they "pulled up" in front of his "palatial" residence and commenced "blowing" one of those beautiful pieces for which the Bellefonte Band is so justly celebrated.

This was too much for Gibson. It aroused him from his peaceful slumber. From his virtuous couch he came forth, and a cordial invitation was extended the Band to enter his dwelling. Of course they did not require coaxing. They all, to a man, went in, and such a treat; cake, pies, fruit of all descriptions were placed in rich profusion before them, and wine—wine, the pure juice of the grape, some of Mr. Lourimore's own manufacture, as much a they wished, was given them for their stomachs' sake.

The Band enjoyed themselves well, nd returned home firmly fixed in the opinion that a trip to the Pleasant Gap Hotel, and a serenade of J. G. Lourimore, are paying institutions, and will bear repetition.

GREAT RUSH TO STERNBERG'S.

Sung to the Tune of Yankee Doodle.

The Great Pacific Railroad's laid,
From ocean unto ocean,
And now comple connection's made,—
An enterprising notion.

The mighty work at last is done,
So speedily and brisk, oh!
And now in ten days we can run
From here to San Francisco.

No more we take the ancient route,
The stage, a horrid slow thing;
It banged the passengers about,
And wore out all their clothing.

CHORUS, for the end of each verse:

The Great Pacific Railroad's laid,
From ocean unto ocean,
And we buy clothes from A. STERNBERG,
A most delightful notion.

Through passengers by the Pacific Railroad will call at the store of A. Sternberg, before starting, and provide themselves with a complete outfit of the elegant and substantial Spring and Summer Clothing, the very best assortment of which will always be found at A. Sternberg's Store.

WEDNESDAY MORNING June 1, '70

FRIENDSHIP'S JOYS.

As through the world I go,
From earthly cares not free,
How sweet it is to know
That dear friends think of me!
How oft my weary heart
Would yield to dark despair,
Should tears for me ne'er start,
Should none my sorrows share.

And if a joy I own,
A joy that fills my heart,
I'd prize it not alone—
Some friends must bear a part;
Some fond, judicious friend,
Who loves me—whom I love—
To guide me as I wend
My way to climes above.

O, bright my earthly way
Whilst home and love are mine—
Whilst sweet content doth stay,
And innocence divine.
And as I seldom go,
Beyond my own "roof-tree,"
'Tis very sweet to know
That far friends think of me!

Farming as a Business.

A man who is not smart enough to run a store is not smart enough to run a farm. Farmers are not to be made out of what is left after lawyers, doctors, ministers and merchants are sorted and picked out. And if a man fails on a good farm, he will not succeed in a store, for it requires more talent to be a thriving farmer than to be an average merchant. The one cause of greatest failure is the disproportion between a man's farm and his capital. A farmer's capital is his skilled labor and his money. If he has little cash, he must have no more land than he can thoroughly well manage by his own personal labor.—Every acre beyond that is an incumbrance. One acre well worked is more profitable than twenty acres skimmed over. It is this greed of land by farmers that have not the capital to work it that keeps so many poor.—Small farms are better than large ones simply because they are better suited to the average capital of common farmers. Large farms with large capital are better than small ones

But, two hundred acres of land, in the possession of a man who has only enough capital to stock and develope ten acres, leads to one of two things either that he pays taxes on one hundred and ninety acres which he does not use, or, as is more commonly the case, that he spreads his small capital out over the whole two hundred; and so thin is it that it is like a spoonful of guano on a Grand Prairie.

Farming is a good business for all men who conduct it on business for all men who conduct it on business principles and have capital according to the size of their farms. If a man does not understand his business, he will fail, whether he be a farmer, lawyer, minister or merchant. If a man at tempt to run a mine, a manufactory, a bank, or a farm, without capital, he will fail alike in all or any of them. but no sooner is one than another of them.

Farming for amusement is another and entirely different thing. Some men prefer dogs and horses; some men pictures; some men landscape gardens and fancy greenhouses, and others fancy farms, as a means of agreeably spending their money and occupying their leisure. A farm may be a rich man's plaything. He does not live from his ground. His ground lives from him.—H. W. Beecher, in Christian Union.

To Keep Chickens Healthy.

We have published much on this subject, but the following from a correspondent of the Rural New Yorker is opportune:—"The way I keep my fowls in health, I clean out the house once a week; put wood ashes under the roost; have iron basins for them to drink from; whitewash inside of henhouse with hot lime; put a little kerosene oil on the roosts once a month. The main food is oats and cake or scraps to pick on. I never feed but once a day at noon, or when I shut them up at four or five in the afternoon. When they run out then give them all they will eat. In my experience there is no easier way to get diseased fowls than to keep them stuffed; it makes them lazy, and they won't work as much as they ought to, to keep them in a healthy condition. I never had any gapes in chickens.—When fowls begin to droop I give three large pills of common hard yellow soap; it is the best thing to cleanse a fowl I know of. I follow it for three days; give them nothing to eat, and plenty of pure water to drink. In desperate cases give a half teaspoonful of tincture of lobelia."

RAISING SMALL FRUITS ON THE FARM.—A large number of the heavy farmers in the West never raise small fruits for their own use. Ask them why, and they will tell you that they can buy them cheaper, and besides they have not time. We believe it would be better for all concerned, and to the interest of the farmer himself, if he would have a small patch of small fruits; it would take very little trouble and the expense small, besides the advantage of having what you want fresh and at hand. You will by close calculation, find that it will, pay.

You cannot always get small fruits in the country just when you want them, while by giving a small piece of ground you can have them when you please. A few hours' work is all that is needed to keep it in proper order and you have all the fruits of the season at hand.—Cor. of Small Fruit Recorder.

Quad About Farming.

In selling live stock by weight, it is a good plan to feed each one about three pails of water, and what other stuff can be got down them just before driving on the scales. If the buyer has ever invested much money on 'Change, he will know what watered stock means.

In holding the plow I always prefer to hold it in the house, seated in a rocking chair with my family clustered around me. As I hold the plow, my wife reads aloud, the dear children gambol in the hilarity of their juvenile friskiness, and my feelings rise, as I breathe the pure air of heaven rushing through the kitchen window, and the singing of the birds makes me feel a contempt for those shut up in the dusty town.

In planting hay, I always select the longest I can find, as short hay bends a person's back in cutting it. I put the hay in with purpose, and get on and ride around at my leisure as hay is something that will always come up, generally coming up to $30 a ton before spring.

In the matter of wheat, I always raise it by the barrel, at a mill not far away, as it saves buying seed, plowing, sowing, cradling, threshing. I thus get rid of the ravages of the midge, and all that. I generally raise it on a note.

In traveling around the country, I have often noticed that farmers do not sufficiently regard the health of their animals. My barn is arranged on a plan of my own. It is open on all sides, so that no creature may have to stand out in a storm because I am asleep or away. This also saves lumber. All around the barn are benches, on which any animal can sit down when tired of standing, or when waiting for something or other to turn up. The sheriff says my cattle always sell when my neighbors don't, and he thinks it is my economy, and I do not doubt it.

In subsoiling a piece of ground, I always plant a mortgage on it the winter previous. Some folks think that a mortgage crop never turns up, but I have my own experience for saying that it raises the biggest kind of a crop, especially where you let the interest get behind. I hardly ever knew such a sowing that didn't turn out full as well as the holder expected.

In raising hogs I think that many farmers are altogether too slack for their own interest. Now, suppose that I want to raise a hog, I go at it in a careful, scientific way. A good many farmers raise their hogs with the first club that comes handy, but this has a tendency to make the animal discouraged and discontented.

I have my own ideas about training horses. If I ever get hold of a horse inclined to run away, I always borrow a buggy of some of my neighbors, hitch him to it, turn him into a lot, and then let him run. He generally gets sick of the fun by the time the buggy is gone, but if he don't I hitch him to any of the wheels that may be left, and keep him traveling. The owner of the buggy always expresses astonishment at my system, but the evidence of its success is there before him, and he can't dispute the pieces.

If I ever get hold of a kicking cow I always let Mrs. Quad sit down first to milk, and I take my station near by, to see what foot the animal kicks with and how hard she hits. My wife has a remarkable clear memory, and after coming to, she can generally give me any little particulars which I failed to note owing to the distance. I then get the cow into the stable, draw her up with a windlass, until she is just evenly balanced. Then I get a bag, fill it with bricks, hang it within easy kicking distance and I stand off for developments. Every time she comes down she goes up, I have an other thing to apply to her in front; and after she has gone through with this oscillation two or three times, she never kicks any more, at least not until she looks around for bricks.—M. Quad, in Detroit Free Press.

To Destroy Caterpillers on Trees.

Having observed several methods of destroying the caterpillars that infest apple-trees in the spring—such as rubbing them off, burning with shavings, cotton and turpentine, &c. I am induced to give you the simple and perfectly effectual method practiced here: Take common soft-soap, and thin it with water so that it will not slip off the brush, and a person may stand upon the ground and apply it to the nest with a common painter's brush inserted in a hole bored through one end of a long strip sawed from a pine or other light board, and all that it touches it will instantly kill. If applied while the nests are small, very few will escape the first application. After the worms are large, it is equally efficacious, but much more difficult to apply thoroughly.

Any thin oil, or oil mixed with spirits of turpentine, is equally destructive to the worms; but the soap is less injurious to the trees.

It is stated that the Percheron horses, introduced into Central Ohio within the last few years are giving good satisfaction, and are being bred more extensively this year than at any previous time.

PEACH-LEAVES, bruised, it is said, are a specific for wounds made by nails in man or beast or for any fresh cut. Lockjaw is prevented by bandaging the leaves on twice a day.

To cure deafness—tell a man you've come to pay him money. It beats acoustic oil all hollow.

THE GREAT MEDICAL DISCOVERY!

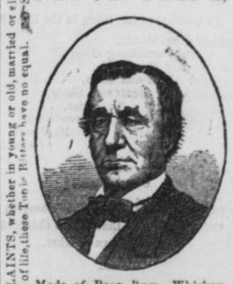

DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA VINEGAR BITTERS.

MORE THAN 500,000 PERSONS Bear testimony to their Wonderful Curative Effects.

WHAT ARE THEY?

THEY ARE NOT A VILE

FANCY DRINK,

Made of Poor Rum, Whiskey Proof Spirits, and Refuse Liquors, doctored spiced and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true medicine made from the native Roots and Herbs of California free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the Great Blood Purifier and Life Giving Principle, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator, of the System, carrying off all poisonous matter, and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell.

$100 will be given for an incurable case provided the bones are not destroyed by mineral poisons or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism, and Gout, Dyspepsia, or Indigestion Bilious, Remittent, and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys, and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure and the health of the system will follow.

PIN, TAPE, and other WORMS, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed.

In Bilious, Remittent, and Intermittent Fevers, these Bitters have no equal. For full directions read carefully the circular around each bottle, printed in four languages—English, German, French, and Spanish.

SEWING MACHINE.

THE SINGER SEWING MACHINE

Among sewing machines, those made by the Singer Manufacturing Company rank with the highest. Their manufacturing machines, have long been known as the best for manufacturing purposes. But within the past few years, they have given special attention to the production of a

FAMILY MACHINE,

destined to win much favor in the

HOUSEHOLD.

The machine which they now offer is quite light running, simple, fast, noiseless Its accessories for

HEMMING, BRAIDING, BINDING,
QUILTING, TUCKING, CORDING
FELLING, GATHERING,

are simple and easily understood. Its delicate though enduring and tireless muscles of iron and steel, do all the work noiselessly, better, and few will deny, "Faster than hand can do it." They urge those wishing to purchase a machine, to examine all the other manufactures before buying, as it will, for itself, overcome all the objections to the other machines that can be brought against it. Machines on hand for sale and exhibition, together with a full and complete assortment of

SILK, TWIST, LINEN, OR COTTON THREAD

LATHS [illegible] for the machine, by
